KARNIVAL KREWE DIRECTORS PUT IN A BUSY WEEK.

HAVE MADE GOOD PROGRESS

SUCCESS OF STREET FAIR PROJECT IS ASSURED.

Manufacturers Will Meet To-morrow Night and Discuss the Project-Will Also Take Action on a Number of Other Important Matters.

The chief obstacle to the sale of booth space has been the lack of understanding among the merchants as to what a street fair is like, and what the arrangement will be. Many prospectuses have been sent out, but they have not conveyed the street fair idea sufficiently plain. By a personal solicitation on the part of the committee, however, the merchants have been enlightened and are taking hold of the scheme with an earnest endeavor to do credit to themselves and the city.

At a special meeting of the Manufac-

At a special meeting of the Manufac-turers' Association to be held to-morrow night the matter of exhibiting at the street fair will be taken up. Some of the officers of the Karnival Krewe will be present to explain the plans of the fair. It has been proposed that all the manufacturers in Kapsas City unite to have a section of the fair reserved for them, which will probably be done. Nearly all the manufacturers of Kansas City will make a display and a large number of booths will be required to accommodate their exhibits.

Just before the metting of the Manufacturers' Association to-morrow night the directors will meet in special session to consider several important subjects that have been awaiting attention for two weeks. Two of the matters upon which the directors will act are the establishment of special shopping excursions into Kansas City from the surrounding trade territory and the prize coupon contest to encourage the purchasing of Kansas City made goods among Kansas City people.

The question of whether the association's yearbook should be issued before the fall festivities or at the end of the calendar year will also be brought up. consider several important subjects that an effort to evade the state law, lim iting interest charges made by pawnbrok-ers to 2 per cent a month, the men who do business under the three golden balls have jumped out of the frying pan into the fire.

They have been making the legal charge of 2 per cent and then adding on 8 per cent for "storage." The war tax compels the placing on each warehouse receipt of a 25-cent revenue stamp and the government inspectors, learning of what was being done, decided each pawn ticket so issued was a warehouse receipt and have demanded the 25 cents due on about 24,000 that have been issued since the law went into effect. The pawnbrokers have hired an attorney to go to Washington and see if he cannot get them excused from paying the revenue.

In answer to my question, the conductor pointed to a bridge across a stream a few rods ahead, and said it was not safe. He said the train would be run over empty and we could follow it. The engineer was already picking his way across on foot. When he said 'all ready,' the conductor climbed into the cab, opened the throttle, if it had a throttle, and as the train moved forward he dropped off.

"I was astonished, to say the least. There that train slowly pulled across the rickety bridge without a soul on board. The engineer easily lifted himself into his cab when it reached him and brought it to a stop. We crossed and resumed our seats in the coach. I was told by the conductor that the bridge had been allowed to remain in that dilapidated condition for close onto a year and it probably hasn't been fixed THIS CITY ESCAPES LICKILY

THIS CITY ESCAPES LUCKILY. An Eastern Promoter Brings Grief to Banks and Business Firms of Omaha.

A Baltimore promoter, James D. Bates, stopped in Kansas City a short while a stopped in Kansas City a short while a few days ago, looked around a bit and then moved on to Omaha. Omaha banks and firms are now wringing their hands and firms are now wringing their hands and weeping over drafts for many thousands of dollars which are said to be worthless. Mr. Bates was rudely hurried from his elegant office, where he was surrounded by an ostentatious army of assistants, to a cell in jall, where he is now explaining things to the public and his creditors. Mr. Bates claims that he is all right and that his drafts would have been also had certain bills of lading for cerloads of cattle reached Baltimore in time.

Bates secured his money in Omaha on an unlimited letter of credit from Wilson, Sons & Co., Liverpool, England, which firm, he represented, had a branch house in Baltimore. Subsequent investigation by the banks shows that there is no such firm as Wilson, Sons & Co. in Baltimore.

In telling his story after arrest, Bates spoke of having stopped in Kansus City for a few days. So far as known, he did not operate in this city, however. He engaged in the cattle business, buying on a large scale and shipping East. few days ago, looked around a bit and

Remember that cholera morbus, cholera infantum, summer complaint, bilious colic, diarrhoa and dysentery are each and all catarrh of the bowels. Catarrh is the only correct name for these affections. Pe-ru-na is an absolute specific for these ailments, which are so common in summer. ADDITIONAL OFFICE BUILDINGS ARE NEEDED.

FEW OFFICES ARE VACANT

RENTERS ARE NOT GIVING UP THEIR QUARTERS FOR THE SUMMER.

All the Big Buildings Are Full and New Ones Have All Their Space Contracted For Refore They Are Erected - Rents Not Raised.

Seldom has there been such a demand for offices in Kansas City during the midsummer season as at present exists. Agents for all the most desirable office buildings report daily inquiries for office rooms and in many cases the applicants have to be turned away. It is almost the universal rule that the summer season sees many professional men leave town for vacation and at that time hundreds of offices are vacated until fall. This year has proved New Location.

The elegant suite of rooms at 240-1-2, New York Life building, are now occupied by J. A. Prescott, Who was formerly with the Concordia Loan and Trust Company, has built up a large real estate business and is at home to his many friends and customers in his new quarter.

A professional man said yesterday that it was impossible to secure a three-room suite at the present time in any fireproof building in the city. The New York Life building in the city. The New York Life building which has 450 offices is at present fully occupied with the exception of three inside rooms. The Ridge building running through, Main street to Wainut street, has nine vacant rooms out of 200. The Sheldley building has but two unoccupied offices. The American Bank building reports no vacancies at present. The Righto building is likewise completely filled. The Keith & Perry, New England, Heist, Exchange and other desirable buildings have few rooms at present unoccupied.

Where there are rooms to be had they are usually of an inferior kind situated in undesirable parts of the buildings. In most of the newer buildings the rooms were contracted for in advance of building. While the rents are not so high as they have been a contractor stated yesterday that in his opinion more office buildings would be needed in Kansas City within a

Have Decided to Change Their Form of Entertainment.

This will probably be the last week of vaudeville at Fairmount park as Man-agers Lehman and Rosenthal are planning to change the form of entertainment and put on a minstrel show next week. As this minstrel show will be followed by attractions of other kinds there will not be another week of vaudeville until the Orpheum opens its regular season. For the week which begins with the matinee this afternoon there will be several features which should prove especially attractive. One of these will be the first professional appearance of Lulu McConneil and Marguerite Graham, two of the most talented young women who have ever been seen on the amateur stage in Kansas City.

These two girls have distinguished them selves in so many ways since they began to appear in public that there is every reason to predict unusual success for them in the line of work they have chosen. Miss Graham has run the gamut from playing Romeo, and playing the character well, to doing a cakewalk, which possessed just as much merit, while Miss McConnell has displayed an equal amount of versatility. At the big cakewalk in Convention hall Miss to change the form of entertainment and played an equal amount of versatility. At the big cakewalk in Convention hall Miss McConneil and Miss Graham won the medal, and on the first amateur night at Fairmount two weeks ago they were voted the medal for the best act presented. As the management had announced that the amateurs who won medals on amateur nights would be given opportunities for appearing regularly the two girls took advantage of the offer, and they are now about to make their first trial as professionals. They will be seen in an act which will include songs, dances and cakewalks. McConnell and Miss Graham won which will include songs, dances and cakewalks.

Another special feature will be the initial appearance here of Edmund Martin's educated dogs. Mr. Martin has the reputation of being one of the best dog trainers in the country, and it was he who first introduced the idea of having dogs put on gloves and go through a sparring match. This week, in the two dogs called Jeffries and Fitzsimmons, will be seen the original boxing dogs. Especial prominence in the act is also given to the leaping dogs, which are said to make some remarkable jumps. Querita Vincent, who is to introduce her famous coon songs and dances, will be another of those who have yet to make their first bow to a Kansas City audience. Others who will be in the bill which will be presented in the theater are the Brothers Borani, the acrobats who are known as the "disappearing demons"; the Columbia Four, who will offer a mixture of music and comedy, and Nadine, the character dancer.

On the lawn there will be a performance by the Shaw brothers, aerial gymnasts, and concerts by Lenge's Military band.

EXTRAS AT TROOST.

An Attractive Programme Has Been Prepared for This Week at With all the extra attractions which will be offered at Troost park this week it is probable that the attendance will be the largest of any week of the season, if anything like park weather prevails. In ad dition to special features at each of the evening concerts and at the two concerts to-day there will be an operatic concert on Thursday evening, at which time all the vocal and instrumental selections will be on Thursday evening, at which time all the vocal and instrumental selections will be from popular operas; a dance for the children on Friday afternoon, and on Saturday afternoon one of the most unique spectacles which has ever been seen in the park. The Saturday feature will be in the form of a children's carnival, in which the young folks, all in fancy dress, will appear as Lilliputians, while Gulliver will be impersonated by a man who will be large enough to make the children look like real Lilliputians.

The success of Mrs. Carrie Farwell Voorhees and E. K. Chafee, who have been singing at the park for the past week has been so marked and the management has had so many requests for a continuation of their engagement that the two favorite singers have been secured for another week. This is the first time that any prominent Kansas City singers have appeared at the park, but never has there been offered any attraction which seemed to give an entirely new list of songs. At the concert this afternoon Mrs. Voorhees will sing "As the Dawn," and Mr. Chafee will give the beautiful "Toreador's Love Song," The programme for the concert this afternoon, which will begin at 3 o'clock, is:

March, "Ye Baston Tea Party" (Pryor).

A NEWS AGENT'S LIFE

RAILROAD COMPANY RESPONSIBLE NOTWITHSTANDING CONTRACT.

Supreme Court Renders a Decision in the Interesting Case of George Davis vs. the Kansas City, Memphis & Birmingham.

The supreme court mandate in the interesting suit brought by the administrator of a news agent against the Kansas City, Memphis & Birmingham Railroad Company was received at the circuit clerk's office yesterday. George W. Davis, a news agent in the employ of the Southern Railway News Company, was at work on a run between Memphis and Birmingham October 21, 1890. While the train standing at Birmingham, the engineer mistook a signal and pulled out without the conductor or brakeman, and leaving the sleeper and part of his train, not yet coupled, at the station. It was not until he arrived at Ensley the next stop, that he noticed his mistake He then told Davis, the news agent, to stand on the rear platform of the last car and keep a lookout while he backed the

The administrator of Davis sued for $20, and recovered $5,090. The railroad company carried the case to the supreme court on the ground that the contract between the railroad company and the news company indemnified the fermer against such loss or liability. The supreme court says no contract could have this power as against the law. Justice Brace, who wrote the online, says: as against the law. Justice Brace, who wrote the opinion, says:

"A carrier of passengers cannot by contract restrict, diminish or limit that obligation to the public, or that duty to the passenger, which requires the exercise of the highest degree of care and diligence on his part. A contract which stipulates for or agrees to such relaxation, and therefore contemplates immunity from the carriers own negligence, would be utterly void; precisely as would a contract purporting to relieve a carrier of goods from liability for losses occasioned by his own or his servant's negligence."

William J. Hannon, a Brother, Sues the Heirs and the Administrator.

Suit was brought in the circuit court by Villiam J. Hannon, yesterday, to contest the will of his brother, John P. Hannon, who died July 27, 1894. "Jack" Hannon was a member of the firm of Hannon & Dixon. well known saloonkeepers. His death was the result of a fall from a railing around an areaway at the New York Life build-an areaway at the New York Life building.

According to a will that was found, all the property, valued at $99,900, was left to a sister, Nellie Hannon. Winnifred Fewer, another sister, was not named in the will, but is made a defendant in the suit. William H. Dixon, the partner, was made administrator, but resigned and Hugh Lynch was named in his stead. All these persons are made defendants in the suit.

The brother who is suing was formerly a check clerk for the Missouri Pacific railroad. He claims that when John Hannon is supposed to have made the will he was of unsound mind and incapable of making a valid testament. He further alleges that John's signature to the will was forged.

Letha Watts, a dissolute woman, now dead, sued the Hannon estate two years ago on the ground that she was the common law wife of Hannon. She was unsuecessful.

Miss Neilie Hannon, a maiden lady, lives at 2425 Wabash avenue, with the brother who is suing to break the will. The other sister lives in St. Louis.

When seen yesterday Mr. Hannon said:

"That will was not made by my brother, or, if it was it was while he was too drunk to know what he was doing. He and I were always on good terms. I had and I were always on good terms. I had and I were always on good terms. I had saved his life twice; once when crossing the plains with some cattle, and again when he fell in front of a cable car. Once when I had an operation performed and it was thought I was about to die, he hugged and kissed me and cried like a child." A Kind Hearted Girl.
